Very First Ferrari At Inaugural Desert Classic Concours d'Elegance
The Father of all Ferraris is still alive and kicking - in case you didn't know that. Oh yeah, its heater core can still rise to the hottest temperatures! The very first Ferrari ever built tagged with Chassis Number 001 will make a very rare appearance in the desert according to the Discovery Channel the vehicle will make its first-ever United States visit and will debut at the historic O'Donnell Golf Club in Palm Springs, California.

Japanese company Ehuto's have initiate a campaign to promote safe driving habits and lowered CO2 emissions in the Tokyo area called Tokyo Smart Driver. The plan is to use the TSD program logo, a pink and white checkered flag, to brand products and services that meet the goals of the initiative. It seems that the Japanese people are especially keen to products they feel have been officially "approved for use", by either a governing body or consumer rankings.
